

Nixon Leaves Some Union Men Wondering

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, an unlikely candidate for an election year love affair with organized labor, left some union chiefs wondering today why Democrats hadn't discovered his wine-and-dine gambit years ago.

Nixon invited more than three score top union officials and their wives to a White House dinner Monday—the first time any chief executive had held such a soiree on Labor Day.

The normally Democratic unionists seemed impressed.

After the business-suit event—a departure from Nixon's preference for formal attire at evening social events—a significant number echoed the sentiments of AFL-CIO official Sol Barkin, who proclaimed:

"It's a political 10-pin strike ... I don't know why the Democrats didn't think of it years ago."

The Nixon get-together almost seemed to belie persistent AFL-CIO criticism of the administration's stewardship of the economy, even though the federation has steadfastly backed Nixon's Southeast Asia policies.

An exchange of toasts between Nixon and AFL-CIO president George Meany gave rise, in fact, to a jest that television might find a fall season winner in the "Dick and George show."

When Nixon introduced son-in-law David Eisenhower, summertime statistician for the Washington Senators of the American baseball league, Meany interjected loudly, "that don't seem to make 'em win.'"

Then when it came Meany's turn to toast the President of the United States, Meany noted the presence of George P. Shultz, first director of the new office of management and budget.

Sorrowfully, it seemed, Meany explained that Shultz had taken a substantial pay cut from his former position as secretary of labor, adding, "that don't happen in the labor movement."

It was Nixon's turn to interject with, "Maybe he should join a labor union."

In a more serious vein, Nixon lauded Meany as a "labor statesman" and asserted that "when the chips are down," the unions are on the side of the U.S. President, be he Democrat or Republican.

Meany allowed as how all six chief executives he has been associated with—starting with Franklin D. Roosevelt—always tried to do what was best for the country.

Cardinal Cushing Has Resigned

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has accepted the resignation "for reasons of age and health" of Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, the Vatican announced today.

The Most Rev. Humberto S. Medeiros, 64, bishop of Brownsville, Tex., since April 1966, was appointed to replace Cardinal Cushing as the Boston archbishop.

Reached at his home in Boston, Cushing said, "Of course I knew" when asked if he was aware his resignation had been accepted.

Two years ago Cushing said he wanted to retire when he reached 75. He celebrated his 75th birthday on Aug. 25.

He had said many times that when he retired he wanted to go to South America and work as a missionary.

"Oh, I can't go now," he said this morning. "I'm too sick."

The cardinal has had several bouts with illness for several years. His last illness was in March when he was hospitalized for several days. The nature of the illness was described as a "resistant infection."

He has suffered from asthma, bronchial ailments, and emphysema.

His interest in missionary work began while he was studying in a seminary to become a priest. He served for many years in the Boston diocesan office of the Propagation of the Faith, which handles missionary funds and affairs of the church.

Bob Hope is Honored

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Hope has been named "Entertainer of the Year" by the 10,000 members of the American Guild of Variety Artists.

He will be presented with a "Georgie," a golden statuette named for the late entertainer George M. Cohan, on a special Ed Sullivan television show Sept. 20, AGVA president Danny Thomas said Monday.

Other winners: Male musical star, Tom Jones; female musical star, Barbra Streisand; male comedy star, Flip Wilson; female comedy star, Carol Burnett; musical group, Blood Sweat and Tears; rising star, Melba Moore; novelty or circus act, the Flying Alexanders; animal act, Tanya the Elephant; outstanding production, Radio City Music Hall.

Automakers Stall on 2nd Offer

DETROIT (AP) — With less than a week to go before contracts expire, bargaining between the United Auto Workers and the Big Three automakers appears stalled today while the union awaits a second offer from its twin strike targets, General Motors and Chrysler Corp.

With pacts at GM, Chrysler and Ford Motor Co. ending at midnight next Monday, negotiations continued through the Labor Day weekend, but little progress was reported.

The companies' initial offer, which the firms said included a wage increase of 7.5 per cent in the first year but which the UAW said amounted to no more than 1.1 per cent, was quickly rejected by the union last week.

Over the weekend, the UAW completed presentation of its contract demands at GM and Chrysler.

Details of the UAW wage demands were not made public. The current average hourly wage for UAW-represented auto workers is $4.02, with fringe benefits averaging an additional $1.75 hourly, according to company estimates.

Irving Bluestone, codirector of the union's GM department, said Monday there had been no indication whether or when GM might make a revised offer.

GM's chief negotiator, Earl Bramblett, indicated when the original offer was made that a second offer might be forthcoming later.

Bluestone said: "If we are going to have a bargaining posture in which we can negotiate to a settlement rather than a strike, we would anticipate another offer."

In addition to reaching agreement on a national contract, negotiators for the union and the companies must also settle thousands of local plant issues.

Army Future Depends on Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today future expansion of the armed forces in emergencies will depend on the Reserves and National Guard, and not on increased draft calls as during the Vietnam war.

"Guard and Reserve units and individuals of the selected reserves will be prepared to be the initial and primary source for augmentation of the active forces in any future emergency requiring a rapid and substantial expansion of the active forces," Laird declared in a memo.

The memo, dated Aug. 21 and made public today, was sent to the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Laird's order reverses a policy followed during the Johnson administration in which the buildup of forces for the Vietnam war was accomplished through higher draft calls while the reserve forces were left untouched.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson had rejected pre-war planning which had envisioned a mobilization of the reserve forces early in a war. It was feared that calling up the reserves for duty in Vietnam would create controversy at home.

Warm weather is expected to continue in Arkansas, but shower activity may increase, particularly in the northwest portion.

Showers and thundershowers moved into the northwest corner of the state early this morning and were pushing southeastward during the early morning hours.

The showers in Northwest Arkansas are associated with a weak frontal system through Southern Missouri and Northeast Oklahoma. The front was expected to dissipate today but a cool front will be pushing into Missouri and Kansas by Wednesday night.

High temperatures Sunday included 97 at Fort Smith and 96 at both Little Rock and Pine Bluff.

Gypsum is a rock used to make plaster.

Certification Sought Friday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Thomas A. Glaze, chairman of The Arkansas Election Laws Institute, said Monday there is "absolutely no reason" why the results of today's primary runoff should not be certified by Friday.

The results in the preferential primary were not certified until six days after the election.

Glaze noted that today's ballot was shorter than the one in the Aug. 25 primary and said the voter turnout could be smaller.

Experiment on Births Pays Women Well

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Ismet Karacan is paying pregnant women $10 a night to sleep in a laboratory so that their brain waves and slumber patterns may be analyzed.

Purpose of the project is to seek ways of predicting cases of "postpartum blues," a form of severe depression which overcomes some women after they have given birth.

The federal government has provided $80,000 for the study by Turkish-born Dr. Karacan, director of the Psychophysiology of Sleep Laboratory at the University of Florida.

"In my first year of psychiatric residency my first six patients had postpartum blues," Dr. Karacan told an interviewer. "One mother killed the baby. Those things made a heavy impact on me."

"From a blue sky the person can become like this. They have the first baby, the pregnancy is normal, now the woman has the fruit of nine months waiting."

"Within a week or two she becomes incompetent emotionally, quite disturbed and depressed with severe crying spells and so on."

Each night the subjects come to the laboratory to be wired to machines which electronically read brain waves and record sleep patterns on graph paper.

"Already we are finding that in later pregnancy sleep is quite a bit disturbed despite the fact that the woman is clinically normal," the doctor said. "There is no sign of depression or the blues but she sleeps not so soundly."

"Brainwaves of these patients are like those of sick, depressed patients and we find they are occurring two weeks or a month before birth."

"When the changes occur early and more severely we find the patient is not as apt to recover so fast after birth as the normal patient who snaps back in about two weeks."

Learning to spot the early warnings may enable doctors to predict severe postpartum reaction and treat the patient accordingly, Dr. Karacan said.

Dr. Karacan was asked whether the separation, sometimes four nights in a row, bothers the affected couples.

Denise Yocom

Carol Denise Yocom of Hope has been awarded a college scholarship for 1970-71 by the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.

The $350 grants are paid out of an annual fund established from the contributions of employees and the company. All recipients are sons and daughters of employees of Arkla Gas or its subsidiaries.

Seventy-one grants are being dispensed this year to students in six states. They are valued at $24,850 and raise the total disbursement for this purpose since 1957 to more than $250,000.

W.R. Stephens, president and chairman of the board, said that character, leadership, scholarship and financial need are the basis for the awards.

Carol Denise Yocom of 606 S. Hamilton, Hope, is the daughter of Carroll Yocom, Arkla distribution manager. At Hope High School she was in FTA, FHA and Homecoming Royalty. Most of the year she worked as clerk-stenographer in the Hempstead County Extension office. She attends Henderson State College and is planning a major in business administration or business education.

This is her first Arkla scholarship.

FAA Praises Plan to Halt Hijacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — In spite of the wave of airplane hijackings abroad and a recent slight increase in the United States, the Federal Aviation Administration said today it remains confident its hijack-deterrent system is highly effective and the best control measure yet devised.

An FAA spokesman said the frequency of U.S. hijackings has dropped a great deal since airlines and airports started using the new deterrent system.

"World-wide hijackings of the type occurring within the past few days are a horse of a different color," the spokesman said.

"Our hijackings have been declining, even though they increased a bit this summer."

The FAA said its records show that of the more than 100 U.S. citizens who have hijacked planes to Cuba in the past 10 years, less than a dozen remain in that country.

Electoral Reform Issue Debate Starts

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate starts debate today on a Constitutional amendment, approved by the House a year ago, to provide for the election of the President by direct, popular vote.

It is the first of many controversial issues confronting senators on their return from a five-day Labor Day recess. Its chances of winning the necessary two-thirds majority are in doubt.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the proposed amendment, contends 55 to 60 senators now support the proposals. He predicts the measure will pick up enough additional votes to pass.

But he told newsmen before the debate got underway that it is going to be a tough, uphill fight and made plain that he would welcome White House efforts to line up senators behind the amendment.

President Nixon endorsed the direct election proposal after its approval by the House by a vote of 339-70.

He previously had recommended overhauling the present electoral college system of choosing the president, expressing doubt that discarding it altogether would be approved by Congress and the states—at least in time for the 1972 election.

Bayh said "the odds are now rather heavily stacked against the plan being put into effect for the next presidential election."

Under the Senate version, ratification by three-fourths of the states would have to be completed by April 15 of next year for the direct election plan to apply in 1972. The House set a deadline of Jan. 20 when it approved the amendment a year ago.

Bayh said 46 of the 50 state legislatures will meet next year and that an all-out effort to obtain ratification promptly will be launched if the amendment clears Congress.

Opponents have indicated that, if necessary, they may mount a Senate filibuster against the direct election plan, but they hope to persuade colleagues to ditch it in favor of other proposals to remedy what they concede are defects in the electoral college system.

They contend the proposed amendment would destroy the two-party system, undermine federal-state relations, and endanger the rights of minorities by removing incentives to compromise.

"The electoral college is so intimately involved with the two-party system, federalism, and the separation of powers that we do not see how these institutional arrangements can possibly survive under direct election in the long-run," the minority report of the Senate Judiciary Committee said.

STITCHIN' TIME

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

Do you dream of a drawer full of lovely, lacy lingerie in luxurious fabrics and melting colors? Well, start sewing. Lingerie is the newest fashion category to intrigue women who sew.

Patterns are now available for half- and full slips, panties, peignoirs and nightgowns. In addition, major department stores may carry special patterns for bras and girdles.

You'll find all the necessary ingredients for lingerie-stitching in well-stocked fabric shops. Nylon tricot comes in two weights—very sheer and floating for gowns and peignoirs, medium weight for slips and panties. There are color-matched shoulder straps and elastics in 1/4- and 1/2-inch widths for waist and leg bands. For bras and girdles, stretch net is available by the yard, with elastic lace for trim.

If you've never sewed with nylon tricot before, begin with a simple half-slip. Use a polyester thread, since it has the same stretch characteristics as the tricot. A blunt-end, or ballpoint, needle has been developed specifically for these materials, on the theory that the needle slips between the threads instead of piercing them. If you can find such a needle, use it; if not, use a fine new No. 9 or No. 11 sewing machine needle. Set your machine for about 15 stitches to the inch. Expect to use a little heavier pressure and a little lighter tension, though individual machines vary.

Pale pink nylon tricot with matching lace is used for this attractive lingerie set, stitched on Singer's newest model 750 sewing machine with Flexi-Stitch Discs. Zig zag stitching, plus new patterns and materials, make it possible for sewing enthusiasts to whip up lingerie and nightwear at a tiny fraction of their store-bought cost.

Test-stitch first.

Be sure your scissors are sharp. Use fine pins, or even transparent tape. Since you can't pull a crosswise thread in tricot, follow its faint rib in straightening your material. If you are working with a solid color and can't tell the right side from the left side, stretch a crosswise cut edge. The fabric will roll to the right.

Sew with a plain zigzag stitch, a multistitch zigzag, an overedge stitch, or one of the new special and flexible stitches built into the newest sewing machines. If you have a machine that does only straight stitching, try stretching the material as you sew. Better still, forget about sewing on tricot and make lingerie from sheer cotton/Dacron batiste. It's just as pretty and lots easier to sew.

To attach elastic to the top

Stick with slips and panties for your early efforts. Girdles and bras offer all kinds of fitting problems and even experienced sewers often find they are simply more trouble than they are worth.

If you'd like to try your hand at sewing lingerie, the new edition of Basic Fashion, available exclusively to readers of this newspaper, has two excellent patterns. No. 8375, in sizes 10 1/2-24 1/2, has a full slip with waistline seam, half-slip and panties with elastic waistbands. No. 8299, in sizes 38-50, has patterns for a full slip with bra top, half-slip and panties darted to fit. To get either one, or to get the new edition of Basic Fashion, send 65 cents for first-class handling, plus your name, address and zip code, to Stitchin' Time, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The Classic

Treat a classic style to a softly draped neckline with button-tab detail for a dress that will prove the mainstay of your wardrobe. Make one with short sleeves, then another with long sleeves for cooler days.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

OH, THE HATFIELDS AND MCCOYS!

Dear Helen:

The Serbs and Croats are traditional enemies. I've been brought up to think there was nothing lower than a Croat. My family is Serb.

I have a best friend who is mature, kind, unselfish, a great guy. We were talking about the census not long ago when the subject of our nationalities came up. Of course we both consider ourselves American, but it turned out my friend is a Croat on his mother's side. Right there I went cold. All the old tales about the fighting and feuding came back. I couldn't speak and got out of there fast.

I'm ashamed of the way I acted and want to apologize, but I can't face him. What if he has this same hatred toward the Serbs?

And if my grandfather finds out I like a Croat, there will be civil war in our family. (My parents would only write their hands and ground me.)

The attitude of traditional enemies is something few escape in their family training. What can be done?—A CONFUSED SERB

I think you're handing us a parable, and the point is well put. Substitute "white" for Serb, and "black" for Croat, readers, and see what YOUR consciences compute. Then ask yourselves, "Are we programmed wrong?"—H.

Dear Helen:

You didn't print my last letter so I guess you won't use this one with the same problem. But here goes anyway:

I like a boy to no end, but he hardly knows I exist. I've read that you must get interested in his hobbies or sports. I did, but it doesn't help when you're afraid to talk to him about them. He only belongs to boys' clubs, so that's no help.

I'm considered cute, and other guys notice me, but this boy is a senior and I'm a sophomore. Please, Helen, help me get him! —HELPLESS

Dear Helppless: You'll never get him if you keep on being so overawed by a lofty Senior that you won't even smile or try to catch his eye. If you can't find a subtler way, bump into him in the hall. But I think a friendly "Hi" might do it. Good luck! —H.

Dear Helen: You may not print this, but I think the other side should be heard.

I am a confirmed marijuana smoker. I do not have the desire to ruin my body or mind by doing any heavy drugs. These heroin addicts and LSD freaks are weak people, and statistics prove they are a very small minority.

Many, many young people smoke and stop at that, because they have the intelligence not to risk hindering their futures. Marijuana today is what beer was to your generation (and remember it was once illegal too).

Dope addicts deserve sympathy and help because they are mentally sick, but if drugs didn't exist, they'd probably be staggering out of barrooms. Pot doesn't lead to stronger stuff unless the person is a potential doper, just as beer doesn't lead to alcoholism unless there's the weakness to begin with — or the misery. —COLLEGE STUDENT Dear Student:

Perhaps pot won't ruin body or mind (statistics and surveys aren't complete on that score, so no one knows just what marijuana does to the confirmed user) but it can ruin your future if you get busted! I agree: It won't lead to hard drugs unless the smoker is aimed that way, but it can certainly lead to jail — and a felony rap is bad news in the job market.

Somehow I don't think the mild high you get from grass is worth the risk. Rather, I suggest waiting until all reports are in. Then—if it is proved harmless, it may be legalized. IF... H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

ap television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Television's five-month summer vacation is over.

Labor Day itself, the unofficial harbinger of autumn and the opening of school, slips by without the special attention networks give to most other holidays in the form of special programs.

But starting right now, all the networks are beginning an intensive effort to lure viewers back in preparation for the opening of the new television season.

NBC will kick off tonight (7:30-8:30 EDT) with an hour-long special, "Civilisation: A Preview," which sketches the achievements of Western culture during the past 1,600 years. This is a gesture of good will since "Civilisation" is an ambitious series of 13 British-made programs—hence the spelling of its title—which has been acquired for broadcast later this season on the National Educational Network.

Later tonight, (9:15-11), CBS will present a 1 1/2-hour news department effort, "A Day in the Life of the United States." The chosen day was July 20, 1969, when Neil Armstrong stepped out on the surface of the moon. The program will demonstrate what an assortment of earth-bound Americans were doing. It ranged, as it does on all days, from birth to death, from comedy to tragedy.

NBC has a Carol Channing special Wednesday night (8-10). This was taped recently in London and has Sir John Gielgud, Sir Ralph Richardson and Fred MacMurray to help out in the sketches, some of which make good-natured fun of our British cousins.

There is an NBC science special Thursday night (7:30-8:30) with Hugh Downs handling the narration of a report on "The Ice People"—Eskimos.

ABC moves in later (8-10) with a revue starring Gene Kelly called "Changing Scene," in which he has a little help from his friends Barbara Eden and James Garner. This is followed by a report on the "Calgary Stampede," a Canadian rodeo, with Arthur Godfrey reporting on the local color.

NBC's Saturday night schedule is all specials, starting with a 90-minute production of the Broadway hit "George M.," followed by an hour-long program of circus highlights and then the two-hour finale of the Miss America pageant.

The hectic two-week period of season premieres starts the next day.

Famed Coach Laid to Rest in New York

RED BANK, N.J. (AP) — Vince Lombardi was buried near here Monday with a wreath of white and yellow flowers at the head of his grave.

The burial at Mt. Olivet Cemetery followed a Requiem Mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York.

More than 1,000 were present as Lombardi's coffin was placed in its final resting place.

Lombardi, who reached legendary stature as coach of the National Football League's Green Bay Packers, died of cancer last Thursday in Washington at 57. For the past year he had been coach and executive vice president of the Washington Redskins.

The floral offering at the head of the grave was from President Nixon, who attended a memorial mass in Washington at the same time the funeral mass was being conducted at St. Patrick's by Terence Cardinal Cooke, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York.

At a White House dinner Monday night, Nixon spoke of Lombardi, calling him a "man of very great character."

Lombardi, the President said, "was a man who in a time when so many people seem to be turning away from religion was devoutly religious and devoted to his church; at a time when the moral fabric of the country seems to be coming apart, he was a man who was deeply devoted to his family; at a time when it seems rather square to be patriotic, he was deeply and unashamedly patriotic; at a time when permissiveness is the order of the day in many circles, he was a man who insisted

Mets' Jones Has Really Bloomed

BY TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer
Cleon Jones disclaims any knowledge of the impostor that played left field earlier in the season for the New York Mets. He only recognizes the fellow that's out there now.

"This is the real Cleon Jones coming out," said the Mets left fielder after he clouted a two-run homer in the opener and added a key single in the nightcap as the New Yorkers swept a Labor Day doubleheader from the Montreal Expos, 5-4 and 5-1.

"I don't know who that other fellow was," said Jones, referring to himself after he started out poorly and was still only hitting at a .237 clip on Aug. 6.

"I didn't know what I was doing wrong then and now I don't know what I'm doing right," said Jones, after hitting his 14th consecutive game and lifting his average to .273.

"All I know is that this is the real Cleon Jones."

The pair of victories enabled the Mets to edge into second place in the torrid National League East battle, 1½ games behind Pittsburgh and one-half game ahead of Chicago.

The Pirates and Cubs split their doubleheader, Pittsburgh winning the opener 8-3 before dropping the nightcap 9-2.

In other NL action—all doubleheaders—San Francisco beat Cincinnati 6-3, 4-3; Houston trimmed San Diego 10-5, 9-4; Philadelphia stopped St. Louis 5-1, 3-2 in 13 innings and Los Angeles swept Atlanta, 4-3, 6-1.

In the American League, New York edged Washington 4-3, Boston and Cleveland split a pair, the Red Sox winning 4-3 before dropping the nightcap 8-2; Minnesota swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee, 7-6, 8-3; Oakland took two from Chicago, 7-4, 7-5; Kansas City nudged California 4-1 and Detroit dropped Baltimore 5-2.

Jones, a .340 hitter last year when the Mets were world champions, led a late comeback in the opener, drilling his ninth homer in the eighth inning to tie the score at 4-4. A pair of walks followed and Gerry Grote ripped a tie-breaking single for the victory.

The Mets backed Jim McAndrew, 9-11, in the second game with a five-run second inning as Jones contributed a single to the rally. Tommie Agee drilled his 23rd homer—a three-run shot—and McAndrew scattered six hits.

Ron Santo clubbed a tie-breaking homer in the seventh inning and hit another in the eighth helping the Cubs to their second game victory.

Nine home runs were hit in the two games. Bob Moose won the opener for the Pirates—his first complete game in a month—and Richie Hebner keyed an 11-hit attack with three, and drove in four runs with a pair of homers. Bob Robertson added a homer for the Pirates and Willie Smith and Joe Pepitone cracked for the Cubs.

Ferguson Jenkins tossed a five-hitter in the nightcap for his 19th victory and also clubbed a homer, as did Billy Williams.

The Giants rallied for three runs in the seventh inning to overtake the Reds in the nightcap. Tito Fuentes drove in the first two with a bases-loaded, two-out hit off shortstop Don Chaney's glove and Bobby Bonds sped home when Chaney's throw to the plate went wild.

Bobby Tolan had a two-run homer for the Reds.

In the opener, Juan Marichal, 10-10, survived 11 Cincinnati hits while Bonds and Willie McCovey homered. McCovey also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly and Hal Lanier added a two-run double for the Giants.

Joe Morgan ripped five hits in the second game, including a key two-run double that put the Astros ahead to stay and the little second baseman added a

Good Guy, Bad Guy in Tennis Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — It's the good guy against the bad guy today in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships, and the question is:

Can Cliff Richey steal the gallery away from Manuel Santana?

They've matched in one of the featured fourth-round matches at the West Side Tennis Club, and the pairing presents an interesting study in contrasting styles and personalities plus a question-mark in the possible crowd support.

In this particular center court drama the good guy is Santana, the foreigner, the puckish, daff-doffing Spaniard who has been a favorite of the world's tennis galleries for years.

Richey has to be the villain—a grim, steely-eyed youngster from San Angelo, Tex., who has a widespread reputation of being a bad boy.

"Gee, that was six years ago when I was just 17," says Richey. "I acted up a bit then and people never forgot it. The reputation has stuck with me."

The Richey-Santana match is one of four which will fill the remaining quarter-final brackets in the men's singles.

In the others, top-seeded Rod Laver of Australia plays Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., who insists Rod has slipped some; fourth-seeded Tony Roche of Australia meets Tom Gorman of Seattle and Tito Vasquez of Argentina faces Brian Fairlie of New Zealand in a meeting of unseeded dark horses.

Quarter-finals also are scheduled in the lower half of the women's draw. Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, seeded No. 2, plays Kerry Melville of Australia and Francoise Durr of France, No. 4, goes against Virginia Wade of Britain, No. 5.

Arthur Ashe Jr. of Richmond, Va., and Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., gave the United States two quarter-final berths with impressive triumphs Monday.

Ashe erased Tom Okker of the Netherlands 6-4, 6-7, 6-2, 6-3 and qualified for a match Wednesday against second-seeded John Newcombe, the Wimbledon champion, who crushed Clark Graebner of New York 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

Smith, No. 1 ranked nationally, upset the fifth-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4. His next foe is Ken Rosewall of Australia, No. 3, who eliminated Nicola Pietrangeli of Yugoslavia 7-5, 6-7, 7-6, 6-4.

Nancy Richey, who is No. 1 in U.S. rankings, eliminated Olga Morozova of Russia 7-5, 2-6, 6-2.

In other matches Monday, favored Margaret Court of Australia smothered Pat Faulkner of Australia 6-0, 6-2; Helen Gourlay upset eighth-seeded Judy Dalton 6-4, 6-2 in a battle of Aussies, and Lesley Hunt of Australia beat Christina Sandberg of Sweden 6-4, 6-3.

On Wednesday it's Court vs. Gourlay, Richey vs. Hunt.

Bob Watson triggered a six-run Houston sixth inning in the first game victory over the Padres as Larry Howard added a pair of homers. Ramon Webster had a pinch grand slam for the Padres.

The Phils jumped out for four first inning runs in the opener as Larry Bowa opened with a triple and Denny Doyle and Deon Johnson added run-scoring hits as Philadelphia ended a five-game losing streak.

Bowa won the nightcap for the Phils with a two-out, run-scoring single in the 13th inning after Philadelphia had loaded the bases with none out. Bowa also drove in an earlier run with a single.

Willie Crawford celebrated his 24th birthday with a two-run homer in leading the Dodgers to their opening game victory. Orlando Cepeda slugged a two-run shot for the Braves.

In the nightcap, Wes Parker lashed a two-run double and two singles as Los Angeles completed its sweep. Alan Foster, 9-11, gained his fifth victory in six decisions against Atlanta. Clete Boyer homered for the Braves.

LR Hall Is Rated Tops in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little Rock Hall was named first on eight of 10 ballots cast by a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters and remained in the top spot on the Associated Press High School Football Poll.

Hall, favored to repeat as Class AAAA champions romped past Little Rock Parkview 33-6 last week.

Fort Smith Northside, second in the poll, received the other two first place votes.

Little Rock Central remained in the number three spot, followed by Pine Bluff and Jonesboro.

Little Rock Catholic, ranked seventh last week, moved up a notch to sixth and Springdale dropped from fifth to seventh.

North Little Rock, Arkadelphia and Fayetteville round out the top 10.

Arkadelphia and Rogers are ranked as the top two teams in Class AA followed by Camden.

Alma, Ashdown and Joe T. Robinson are ranked 1-2-3 in Class A and Luxora, Holly Grove and Stamps hold down the same positions in Class B.

Sickness Worries Steer Coach

By JACK KEEVER

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Longhorns would look a lot better to coach Darrell Royal if those in the sick bay were on the playing field.

"Now I know our opposition is not a bit concerned about our problems after we've won 20 in a row, but we are too weak in depth to withstand any kind of injury and be a contender," Royal said Monday.

He talked to sportswriters on a tour of the Southwest Conference schools.

Texas was rated the No. 1 college team in the nation last year, finishing an 11-0 season with a victory over Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, but the first poll this year ranked the Longhorns No. 2, behind Ohio State.

"That doesn't bother me a bit," Royal said. "But it does mean something when you rack the bats" at the end of the season.

Royal said he thought this summer "this team had the same potential as last year, but I don't think that now."

He indicated injuries to key player had changed his mind.

One which particularly seemed to upset him was the pulled muscle of Bill Atessis, 6-3, 255-pound defensive end, who was injured while running sprints for the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League.

"I don't like their taking a guy out of an air-conditioned office and having him run," said Royal.

Atessis said since he pulled the muscle in July he had re-injured it three or four times in fall workouts and has missed almost all of practice.

Tommy Woodard re-injured his knee Saturday and will miss the Sept. 19 opener against California, Royal said. Halfback Jim Bertelsen, the team's leading rusher in 1969, could miss the game if a pulled thigh muscle flares up.

Defensive end David Arledge and defensive halfback Mike Bayer also have missed fall workouts, as well as all three players behind Woodard at tight end. That spot is such a question mark now, Royal said, that linebacker Bill Zapalac may have to move over there.

Texas' passing has been "disappointing," he said, even though "We have spent a lot of time on it and thought it would be an area in which we would improve."

Asked if any phase of practice had pleased him

Shoemaker Sets Riding Record

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — A millionaire professional who rides thoroughbred horses for a living, Bill Shoemaker went back to work as usual today, unmindful that he can now retire as the world's champion rider.

He had five mounts at Del Mar today and as he said after setting a record for wins—6,033 — on Labor Day: "I'll keep on riding as long as I feel good and as long as I can win races."

Willie the Shoe eclipsed by one the mark of 6,032 held since 1966 by Johnny Longden. It came in the fourth race on a two-year-old filly, Dares J, the favorite.

Shoemaker had seven mounts for the biggest day in 21 years at Del Mar but the only one he brought in as the winner was the winningest of his 21-year career.

There were 20,942 fans on hand on a warm afternoon. It was the largest crowd in 21 years at this little track founded by Bing Crosby.

The Shoe had run third in the second race but the crowd seemed to sense what was to happen in the fourth.

The roar was overwhelming when Shoemaker got the record by 2½ lengths on Dares J.

California 500 Is Won by Revson

ONTARIO, Calif. AP — Peter Revson, the auto racing New York socialite, won the Superior Professional Driver award for the California 500-mile race.

Revson, who ran a strong second until an electrical switch failed while he was in the pits, finished fifth and collected $17,250. To this, the driver award added $2,000.

Members of the American Automobile Racing Writers and Broadcasters Association voted the award. Tied in second place in the balloting were race winner Jim McElreath and LeeRoy Yarborough who led for five laps until his engine blew with nine laps to go.

One Dead, 7 Hurt at Stock Car Race

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — One man died and seven persons were injured Monday when a speeding stock car hurtled end over end into holiday crowds at the State Fair Raceway, pinning three persons.

The dead and injured were all spectators standing behind an eight-foot fence in the northwest corner of the dirt track.

According to witnesses, a car driven by Lee Millington of Canajoharie, N.Y., swerved and was struck by another car.

Millington's vehicle flipped end-over-end two or three times on the track, then slowly turned over once more as it crossed a 3½-foot wall and the fence.

The race, the final of the day's New York State Modified Stock Championships, was halted about 40 minutes after the mishap occurred on the third lap of the 30-lap competition.

Shelton Wins Cotton States Golf Match

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MONROE, La. (AP) — Robert Shelton of Monroe won the Cotton States Invitational Golf Tournament Monday by beating Gil Morgan of Wewoka, Okla., on the second hole of a sudden death playoff.

Shelton and Morgan finished regulation play with 278 for the 72 holes. Shelton shot a two-under-par 58 on the final round and Morgan had a 69.

Shelton had a par 4 for the second hole of the playoff while Morgan took a bogey.

Liked Pace, Wouldn't Give It Up

By ED SCHUYLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Distinctive liked the pace so much, he wouldn't give it up. That's the story of the Governor Nicholls, the Labor Day feature at Belmont Park.

The speedy Distinctive, who likes to be out front, grabbed the lead an instant after the start of the $116,800 stakes Monday—and he still had it at the end of the one and ¼ miles for a half-length victory over Meadow Stables' Hydrologist.

"He was running well within himself on the backstretch and I just sat there," said Walter Blum of Distinctive. "I asked him for his run at the quarter pole and he had it all the way."

On his way to a final 1:48 clocking, the Herbert Allen-owned four-year-old cut out fractions of 22.4-5, 45.2-5, 1:09.1-5 and 1:34.3-5.

In capturing his fourth stakes of the year, Distinctive paid a winning mutuel of $38 to his backers in the crowd of 65,028—just 2,933 less than the track's record turnout of 67,961 for the 1969 Belmont Stakes.

Distinctive carried 119 pounds to 117 for Hydrologist and 110 for George D. Widener's Plymouth, third in the field of 13. Mrs. Ethel B. Jacobs' favored Personality, a 3-year-old like Plymouth and fourth-place Judgeable, and William Hagan Perry's Dewan, co-highrater at 123, finished fifth and 10th respectively.

Jockey Bill Shoemaker, after anguishing days of trying for a winner, finally went over the top and broke the world record for victories. Chalking up victory No. 6,033 Shoemaker piloted favored Dares J in the fourth race at Del Mar.

A crowd of 20,000, largest at the California track since 1966, gave the 39-year-old veteran a tremendous ovation when he came back to the winner's circle on his two-year old filly. His triumph put him one over John Longden's long-standing mark. Shoemaker's big victory was

Porks in Pads for Two Hours Monday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks worked out in pads for two hours Monday in preparation for their opener Saturday against Stanford.

Starting fullback Russ Garber missed the workout with a pulled leg muscle he suffered Thursday.

Arkansas will hold a similar workout today and begin tapering their practices in preparation for the season opener.

Lightning Kills High School Players

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A bolt of lightning which flashed out of the darkening sky over a practice high school football game killed two players and injured 20 other youngsters, two critically.

The bolt Monday centered on a huddle of the Gibbs High School offensive team, working on plays to be used in the season opener Sept. 18.

Killed were senior Robert Newton, 17, an all-Pinellas County Conference tackle last year, and sophomore quarterback Vincent Williams, 16.

Four players remained hospitalized, two of them—Bruce Chapman and Alfonso Black, both 16—listed in critical condition. Sixteen others persons were treated for shocks and burns.

Coach Al Campbell said practice usually is suspended when there is lightning around, but that the bolt hit without warning.

"I heard a loud clapping noise and everybody was knocked down—players, coaches and everybody on the field," Campbell said.

Robert Jenkins, who was refereeing the game, said he saw "flashing way off in the distance like it was on the Gulf beaches and then boom! The noise brought both my jaws together."

Indians in Vigorous Sessions

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas State University Indians went through a vigorous two-hour scrimmage Monday afternoon and Coach Benjie Ellender said his team was looking "a lot better."

"Our defensive team had more zip and fire and I thought the offense stuck it in there pretty good, especially on the goal line stuff," Ellender said.

The Indian coach said his team's progress had been slowed by injuries and a virus infection that has affected as his only one in seven mounts on Labor Day. He finished fourth on Pinjara in the $55,950 Del Mar Handicap, which was won by Daryl's Joy.

Daryl's Joy ridden by John Sellers, paid $7.80. Cougar II was second and Contratodos wound up third. Winning time on the 1 ¼-mile course was 2:15.2-5.

Well Mannered led every step of the way to win the $82,450 Hawthorne Derby by four lengths over Saratoga Bay at Hawthorne. The winner, timed in 1:41.4-5 in the mile and 1-16 race for 3-year-olds, paid $5.30.

The Perfect 'Pocket'?

Quarterback Norm Snead of the Philadelphia Eagles may have found the perfect pocket in which to protect himself from onrushing linemen. The pocket is the trunk of his car—and he ducks into it only when the sun is hot during practice sessions.

Sikes Share at Hartford Is $1,150

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — R. H. Sikes of Springfield, Ark., shot a one-under-par 70 Monday to finish the $100,000 Greater Hartford Open Golf Tournament here with a 76-hole total of 276. Sikes' share of the prize money was $1,150.

Richard Crawford of Bella Vista, Ark., finished the tournament with a 286 and won $174. Bob Murphy won the tournament with a 267.

Hard-Luck Driver Gets a Victory

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — It's about time somebody else got the lightning bolt," said auto racing hard-luck guy Buddy Baker after he breezed to a one-lap victory Monday in the 21st Southern 500 stock car race.

The burly driver from Charlotte, N.C., put his 1969 Dodge, built by Cotton Owens, into the lead on the 303rd lap and held it the rest of the way as his two nearest challengers were victims of accidents in the final 50 miles.

Veteran Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., winner of this event two years ago, was only three seconds behind on the 332nd lap of the 367 lap race when he attempted to pass three cars on the low side of the back straightaway.

Yarborough, running without brakes, closed in too quickly on slower traffic and bounced off the inside guard rail, spinning back on the track. The wreck sent him to the sidelines for a 20th place finish in the 40-car field.

This left only Donnie Allison of Hueytown, Ala., as a serious contender. But Allison, who led the 110 laps near the middle of the race, saw his hopes shattered when he slid into the wall coming out of the first turn on the 347th lap, only moments after he had stopped for tires.

Allison was almost one mile behind Baker at the time. He finished 11th, one place behind his brother Bobby.

Another Dodge driver, Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., came in second, one lap and three seconds behind Baker.

"The things that happened to the other guys today could have happened to me," said Baker, winning only his third time in 286 career starts. Both other wins came at Charlotte—the National 500 in 1967 and the World 600 in 1968.

Baker, who won $27,450, covered the 500 miles at 128.871 miles per hour, third best time in Southern 500s but well off the record 130.423 mark set by Richard Petty in 1967.

Isaac's second place earned him 147 points toward the NASCAR point championship for 1970, running his total to 3,039 for the year. The second place driver in the standings, James Hylton of Inman, S.C., placed seventh and received 132 points for a 3,012 total.

Pro Charts

BY MURRAY OLDERMAN
National Conference:
ATLANTA

PROSPECTUS—Darkhorse entry in NFL this year. On paper, doesn't sound logical to have them knocking over teams like Rams, but Dutch Van Brocklin's got them toughened up. If he can get pass rush he's looking for defensively and the right arm to make Falcons airborne, they can mount challenge.

OFFENSE
PASSING—Still tussle from whom they can get most mileage—Bob Berry or Randy Johnson. Johnson's in classic QB mold but never has steadied. Berry, small and gummy, seems to get most out of team. Chances are he'll wind up with job again. Rating—B—

RECEIVING—Putting it all in hands of couple of vets whose better days are behind them but who are still dangerous because of savvy—namely, Gail Cogdill and Paul Flatley. Not much behind them either. Tight end is Jim Mitchell, a terror as rookie and even better as soph. Rating—B—

RUNNING—Looks like Harmon Wages will be sprung from Army duty often enough to be factor. He teams with Cannonball Butler on first unit. And there's plenty behind them—zippy Paul Gipson, rookie Art Malone and a free agent surprise, Sonny Campbell. Rating—B+—

LINE—Van Brocklin gambled with young blood year ago (three rookies) and Falcons came out better club for future. Tackle George Kunz, future all-pro, guards Dick Enderle and Malcolm Snider have had their battle testing. Might be slight problem at center, where Jeff Van Note moves into regular role without much background. Rating—B—

DEFENSE
LINE—Slight setback when Carlton Dabney didn't come off knee surgery as try as they hoped. So big experiment is converting rookie linebacker John Small into tackle. He's got size and agility. Rest is out for jury verdict. Meanwhile, well set at terminals with Clyde Humphrey (star of unit), John Zook. Couple of vet tackles, Dave Cahill and Glen Condren, represent security. Rating—B—

SECONDARY—Outside of Ken Reeves, lot of nobodies re reputation, but expect to get good enough pass rush up front to take pressure off them. Names who'll count are Rudy Redmond, joining Reeves in corner spots, Al Lavan, Tom McCauley and Mike Freeman at safeties. Not the greatest, not the worst. Rating—B—

PREDICTION
Second in Western division. Which would mean Falcons' first winning season ever.

1969 Raiders Won Wrong Two Games

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders begin life as a National Football League team with everything but a Super Bowl trophy to prove they were the best team in the American Football League's last days.

In the last three AFL seasons, the Raiders were 34-4-1. Last year's 12-1-1 record was the best in pro football.

But the 1969 Raiders won the wrong two games with the Kansas City Chiefs, bowing 17-7 in the third and last game and sending the Chiefs on to Super Bowl glory.

Coach John Madden's team should again battle Kansas City for a divisional title. The two teams, along with Denver and San Diego, make up the Western Division of the American Conference.

The 34-year-old coach, in his second season, has a veteran line-up returning.

Quarterback Daryle Lamoni-ca, the AFL's Most Valuable Player last year, has thrown 89 touchdown passes and gained almost 10,000 yards passing in his three seasons with the team.

Lamonica completed 101 passes last year to wide receivers Fred Biletnikoff and Warren Wells for an average of 20 yards per completion.

The veteran line, with such standouts as guard Gene Upshaw and Center Jim Otto, provided great passing protection.

Charlie Smith, the lead rusher last year with 600 yards, and Hewitt Dixon figure to start again as running backs. But Dixon has been bothered by leg injuries, and the fullback spot may have to be filled by Pete Banaszak or Marv Hubbard.

On defense, the only 1969 starter missing is outside linebacker Chip Oliver, who gave up football to join a hippie commune.

Bill Laskey, a part-time starter last season, has moved into Oliver's spot. Gus Otto is a six-year starter at the other outside position.

Dan Donners, the regular middle linebacker, broke his right arm Sunday and will be sidelined at least six weeks. The defensive front four of Ben Davidson, Tom Keating, Art Thoms and Carleton Oats led a pass rush that spilled opposing quarterbacks 47 times last season.

Safety Dave Grayson and cornerback Willie Brown were All-League players. Nemiah Wilson and George Atkinson were the other starters in the defensive backfield.

George Blanda, at 43, may lose the No. 2 quarterback job to rookie Ken Stabler but is expected to continue as the team's place kicker.

Dowling, a record-breaking quarterback at Yale, was cut by the Boston Patriots after failing to beat out Kim Hammond as the backup man to Mike Taliaferro.

Howell, 26, a six-year veteran tackle who played with the New York Giants and Philadelphia, was cut by the Eagles.

Boston Coach Clive Rush, however, left the door slightly ajar in Dowling's case. He indicated he may be carried on the Patriots' taxi squad if not claimed by another NFL team.

Dowling teamed with Calvin Hill, Dallas' extraordinary runner, to give the Elia one of their best scoring punches ever during the 1966-68 seasons.

Howell, a Grambling product, was the Giants' 15th round draft pick in 1963.

Dowling was among five players cut by Boston. The others included defensive end Karl Henke, a two-year veteran.

The Buffalo Bills raised a few eyebrows by dropping safety man George Saines, one of their steady regulars in recent years. Saines was waived along with veteran center Al Bertallier and middle linebacker Harry Jacobs.

Harry Theofilides, who gained some glory while filling in adequately for AWOL quarterback Joe Namath during the early exhibition season, got the ax from the New York Jets, who also trimmed veteran wide receiver Richard Trapp and tackle Paul Selter, a No. 1 draft pick in 1967. Defensive tackle Ray Haynes was put on the injured waive list.

During the course of the Culbertson-Lenz match Ely Culbertson came out with a new book. He autographed a copy to Sidney Lenz as "The grand old man of bridge" and another to Oswald Jacoby as the grand young man of bridge. Sidney was 57, Jacoby 28. Today there are great players who are considerably older than 57 or considerably younger than 28.

In both the Official System as played by Lenz and Jacoby and the Culbertson System, the single jump overall was supposed to show a very good hand. Young Jacoby insisted on using a weak jump overall.

These weak jump overcalls were the first psychic bids. Jacoby has used them ever since as do most modern experts. In addition, they have become part of both the Roth-Stone and Kaplan-Sheinwold systems and have even become an option in Standard American. They are also going to be used in Jacoby Modern, although never with hands quite as weak as the one that Jacoby bid against the Culbertson's.

Ely's hand was a good sound opening diamond bid then, now or any time in the future. Ely had not thought of the idea of an ace-asking bid at that time and the Culbertson's might well have reached the diamond slam without Jacoby's interference but once he threw that monkey wrench into their machinery they couldn't stop.

Jacoby's eight of spades lead was a most fortunate one. Without a spade lead the slam would have been a cinch. Jacoby didn't think that Lenz held the spade ace. He wanted to get Ely to play the ace from dummy if dummy held it. As it was, Sidney took his ace and returned the suit to Jacoby's king.

Want to test yourself with a consumer quiz? Try this:

Situation—You buy a new home, and you hire a landscaper to grade the bare plot, cover it with four inches of topsoil, and sow it completely. After viewing the finished job, you hand over a check for $1,200 in full payment.

The next day you discover no topsoil was applied and the landscaper refuses to consider a rebate.

Question—What's the easiest way to get the landscaper to negotiate a settlement?

Answer—Stop payment on the check.

The stop-payment procedure is a little-known but legitimate method of retracting a payment you wish you hadn't made in the first place.

As in this case, the reason may be a contractual disagreement, but stop-payment can also be used in the case of lost checks or where duplicate checks have been written by mistake.

There are some practical aspects to the use of the stop-payment procedure that you ought to be acquainted with if you want to use it.

The most important of these is speed. Payment can be stopped only if the check is caught before it passes too far along in the system.

The minute you know you want payment stopped, call your bank. It will probably put the procedure into effect based on your phone call but will require you to sign a written order later.

The bank's problem is to locate the check. Massive volume, plus automated handling procedures make this difficult.

Once the bank is sure the check hasn't been paid, it flags your account so that the check will be sidetracked when it does show up.

Along about this point, you're going to be charged a fee for the stop-payment service. This fee will probably be about $3, but it could be $5, or even $1.

There are several reasons for the charge. First, the bank is stuck for the amount of the check if it errs by paying it after the order has been issued. Second, the time, trouble and paperwork involved in keeping track of stop orders makes them an expensive proposition for the bank.

Considering the trouble and expense, you won't want to use a stop-payment order for minor amounts. For sizable sums, however, this method provides a means for both parties to talk out their differences.

One final note of caution. Don't overuse the stop-payment order. At best, it is a cumbersome procedure for a bank and one fraught with peril.

School Bus Drivers Need Special Training

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

How safe are the school buses your children use? Some pediatricians made a survey and were dismayed to find that in some states 16-year-olds, although not allowed to drive trucks, could drive school buses. Special driver training is required in very few states.

Over half the states permit standing and even where it is not legal it may occur because of overcrowding. Add to this the fact that horseplay by the children often distracts the driver's attention and it is surprising that there are not more accidents than there are—50 children were killed and 3,800 were injured out of the 16.5 million who ride school buses.

To prevent these accidents it has been recommended that (1) the drivers be between 25 and 60 (some are over 70 in some states), (2) the drivers be given special training, (3) all school buses be yellow and equipped with special stop signals, (4) exposed seat and guard rails be covered with elastic padding, (5) rules against standing be adopted and enforced, (6) if conditions make walking to school hazardous, bus transportation be provided regardless of the distance, (7) all students from kindergarten through high school be taught the principles of highway and bus safety and (8) all buses carry an adult monitor to keep order, escort

Driver's Death to Bring Probe of Race Car

MILAN, Italy (AP) — The International Automobile Federation announced Monday night that in the wake of the death of Austrian driver Jochen Rindt it has asked Formula One car makers to prepare a report on ways to increase safety of racers.

Rindt died when his Lotus racer crashed on a curve during official trials for the Grand Prix of Monza race Saturday. He was the 17th driver to die in a competition this year.

The announcement said the International Sports Commission of the International Automobile Federation met with representatives of the Bureau International Des Constructeurs D'Automobiles and of the producers of racing cars and of tires.

The industrialists, the commission said, pledged to continue their research to improve the safety of racers. It was hoped, it said, that a report would be ready before the start of the next racing season.

T.C. Cranford spoke to the club on Hope's newest industry, Kustom Kraft, which makes the fireplaces for mobile homes. He told the club that Kustom Kraft makes trusses for mobile homes as well as two models of fireplaces and supplies 3 manufacturers, including the local Young American Homes plant. The fireplace mantle can be opened to reveal a radio-record player combination, thus making use of every available space.

"Mobile homes will change the countryside in the next few years just as automobiles did when they came into being," the speaker said. In this day of inflationary prices, the economic factor will be the principal reason for the purchase of mobile homes by young couples, and he pointed out that a permit is needed to put such a home in a residential area.

Mr. Cranford with his partner, W.C. "Dub" Bruner, Jr., operates the manufacturing plant at the former location of Hope Wire Products, Elm and Division Streets, with a payroll of $50-$60,000 per year. Rotarian Vic Cobb arranged to have the speaker and introduced him. President C.R. "Dick" Moore had charge of the meeting.

More Medals Passed Out in Vietnam

By JOHN LENGEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Medals for soldiers symbolize achievement, build morale, look good on a man's record and tell of heroism.

And soldiers in Vietnam have received more medals than GIs in Korea. In certain areas, U.S. soldiers in Southeast Asia have received more medals than were issued to troops in World War II.

There are plenty of reasons for the increases and the services feel the awards are richly deserved.

"There's no stated policy that awards should be given out more frequently," says Maj. Frederick Vollrath, who watches these things in the Army adjutant general's office.

But, in the case of the Army's bronze star, the fourth highest medal for heroism, the decoration also can be given for achievement.

A bronze star can be awarded to a rifleman who takes a bunker single-handedly or to a man who moves paper a bit more swiftly than the fellow at the next desk. The only distinction in appearance is a tiny "V" on the medal.

Further, in some units, division commanders can award a bronze star to everyone in a rifle company. This was standard procedure at one time in the First Air Cavalry Division in Vietnam.

As it is, the Army alone has given out in Vietnam 317,670 bronze stars in all, compared with 73,464 in Korea and 395,379 in World War II.

The first and only medal in the Army for several decades was the Purple Heart, created by George Washington. Several times it faded in use and had to be revived by special order.

The only medal in the Civil War was the Medal of Honor and there were abuses. When the honor gained in stature, thousands of names were purged from early lists.

The third highest gallantry award, behind the Medal of Honor and the distinguished service cross, was the silver star. It began going to men "mentioned in dispatches" in World War I. The rest of the Army's 10 decorations followed soon after.

A Vietnam veteran, Marine Brigadier General Herbert Beckington, accounts for the hike in leatherneck awards by pointing out the Vietnam conflict has been a long and often bloody war.

More men have fought in it, and there is more in today's fighting, he said.

A distortion in the figures comes in one category, the Air Medal. It was given out less frequently when helicopters weren't around. But in Vietnam, everyone rides in helicopters and for the Marines alone this has accounted for 80 percent of the decorations.

Here's some comparative award categories for the Army: Medal of Honor, 293 in World War II, 78 in Korea, 73 in Vietnam; silver star, 73,651 in World War II, 10,064 in Korea, 17,178 in Vietnam; air medal, 1.1 million in World War II (when the Air Force was in the Army, 8,504 in Korea, and 647,334 in Vietnam).

Man Injured Fatally in Boat Race

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Horace Hageman, 28, Lorain, Ohio, a national champion in outboard boat racing, was fatally injured Monday during a race in the River Festival Championships on the Ohio River.

Race officials said Hageman was competing in a field of 11 boats in the 80-90 cubic inch class when his boat was struck by one driven by Dan Habighorst, Cincinnati, in the first down-river turn.

The impact tore loose a 100-horsepower motor from one craft, and Hageman was apparently hit on the head by the other boat and knocked under the decking, race officials said.

Hageman, who had been racing for eight years, recently won national races in Florida and the North-South championship at Lake Cumberland in Kentucky and was the national point leader in the American Power Boat Association standings.

cans will decide between Gov. Walter Peterson, who is seeking renomination in a battle against Meldrim Thomson, a law book publisher.

Arkansas will hold its runoff between former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who is trying for a comeback, and Dale Bumpers, a lawyer. Faubus is rated the probable winner and would face Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who is seeking a third term.

In Utah and Wisconsin, Republican and Democrat senatorial candidates have no primary opposition. Utah Republicans are pitting Rep. Laurence J. Burton against Democratic Sen. Frank E. Moss.

Democratic Sen. William Proxmire, unopposed in the Wisconsin primary, will be matched against John Erickson, former University of Wisconsin basketball coach, who has the GOP nomination for the Nov. 3 election.

In Arizona, Republican Sen. Paul J. Fannin and Gov. Jack Williams are unopposed for renomination. Sam Grossman, millionaire shopping center owner, appears the leading candidate in a three-way contest for the Democratic nomination to oppose Fannin. Jack Ross, a Phoenix area auto dealer, is likely to win the Democratic nomination for governor.

In Colorado, GOP Gov. John A. Love is unopposed for renomination, and will face Lt. Gov. Mark A. Hogan, Democrat, in November.

In the Georgia primary Wednesday, a nine-candidate race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination pits front runners former Gov. Carl E. Sanders against former State Sen. Jimmy Carter. The crowded field makes a Sept. 23 runoff between the two top finishers almost certain.

State Controller James L. Bentley is considered the front runner among the three Republicans running.

three passengers, two of whom were hospitalized for minor injuries, were still in Cairo.

All three planes were hijacked en route to New York.

Miss Khaled was seized by Israeli security guards Sunday during a fourth hijack attempt. Her male companion was fatally shot when they tried to take over an Israeli El Al Airlines DC8 on a flight from Amsterdam to New York. She was jailed by Scotland Yard when the plane landed at London's Heathrow Airport.

The other guerrillas whose release has been demanded are also in jail on charges involving attacks on airlines. Three of the prisoners are awaiting trial in Munich and the other three have been sentenced in Zurich to 12-year prison terms.

In Geneva, the International Red Cross said it had dispatched a special mission to Amman to try to negotiate the fate of the hijackers' hostages.

Red Cross mediators earlier convinced the Palestinians to release 120 hostages, mostly women and children, who were taken to a hotel in Amman. The 180 remaining included all Israeli nationals aboard, plus men from the United States, Britain, West Germany and Switzerland.

The hotel where the 120 were staying was hit by mortar fire during the night, but there were no injuries. The attack appeared to be part of the skirmishing in the city between Palestinian guerrillas and the Jordanian army.

The Popular Front has demanded the release of guerrillas held in Israel as the price of freedom for the Israeli hostages. It is believed the Israeli government holds about 50 commandos.

Armored units of the Jordanian army stood by helplessly as about 200 armed guerrillas surrounded the planes at Dawson Field, a dusty desert airstrip at Zarka, 25 miles northwest of Amman. There was no gunfire, probably because the army was eager to avoid harming the hostages. A Palestinian flag fluttered over a tent, and a tanker truck passed out water to the commandos.

Inside the aircraft, the hostages sat—hot, hungry and thirsty. The commandos finally allowed the Red Cross to bring food and blankets aboard.

"Go and show this to Nixon and Meir"—President Richard Nixon and Israeli Premier Golda Meir—"and tell them about the Arab revolution," a guerrilla told newsmen as he pointed to the scene.

Millions Enjoy Summer's Last Long Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little in the way of formal ceremony marked Labor Day 1970 as tens of millions of Americans enjoyed the summer's last long weekend.

The one major get-together was in Washington where President Nixon had 190 top union leaders and their wives over for dinner at the White House.

Some rank and filers worked as usual but the majority enjoyed a holiday from the job-marred chiefly by the crush of traffic when the time came to go home.

With the high traffic volume came fatal accidents. In all, more than 560 persons died on the nation's highways between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight, local time, Monday.

New York, once the site of large Labor Day parades, had neither a march nor a rally for the second straight year. And Detroit, where Labor Day rallies traditionally open Democratic presidential campaigns, also was bare of celebration.

But the Motor City was a focus of attention as bargainers for the United Auto Workers Union and the Big Three automakers spent part of the holiday laboring against a contract expiration deadline next Monday.

While the few small parades offered little challenge to sanitationmen afterward, the big cleanup task was along the nation's roads.

Hostages told of sitting with their seat belts buckled for 15 hours before a Red Cross official persuaded the guerrillas to permit visits to the lavatory.

Gerry Tomiatti, a beautician from Queens, N.Y., was aboard the Swissair DC8. The first indication she had that the jet was hijacked, she said, was when someone said over the public address system: "Good evening. You now have a new captain."

In other developments: The International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations, representing 50,000 pilots, scheduled a meeting in London to consider possible methods of retaliation to hijacks. They reportedly will demand more stringent control of passengers and baggage before planes take off, with international sanctions being called against countries which harbor hijackers.

The Popular Front headquarters in Amman denied a claim by the organizations' spokesman in Beirut, Lebanon, that freedom for Sirhan B. Sirhan was part of the ransom demand.

Sirhan is on Death Row at San Quentin State Penitentiary in California for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"We categorically and officially deny that we have asked for the release of Sirhan Sirhan," the Amman statement said. The Beirut spokesman later reversed himself, saying the PFLP's headquarters had the final word.

Capt. John Priddy, pilot of the hijacked and destroyed Pan American jumbo jet, said he searched two men who participated in the takeover before they boarded his 747. Priddy said the men—whom he called "real professionals"—were denied passage on an El Al airliner before they were booked on his flight.

There is a question of Britain's jurisdiction over Miss Khaled, some observers say, because her hijack attempt occurred over the ocean and not in British airspace. They say she could be returned to Amsterdam, where she boarded the aircraft, or to Israel, under whose flag El Al operates. International law is hazy on the question of air piracy, experts say.

Israeli newspapers condemned the hijackings and urged the international community to force the release of the hostages without capitulating to the ransom demands.

Haaretz, an independent daily, said, "Haste in accepting the exchange deal will only increase the terrorists' daring and award a prize for their audacity."

The pro-government newspaper Lamerhav expressed the fear that Jews and Israelis among the hostages would be left "to the terrorists' mercies," which "would be a violation of every human law and practice."

In Washington, representatives of Britain, Israel, West Germany and Switzerland met with Secretary of State William P. Rogers to review the situation. They reportedly decided on some steps to gain the release of the hostages, but details were not disclosed.

publicly Wednesday, states that the rates for nonwhites proved to be higher than white rates for each of the four major violence crimes—rape, homicide, assault and robbery.

But the majority of homicides, assaults and rapes committed by Negroes involved black victims, the report said.

Robbery was the one major crime in which there was a larger percentage of Negroes whose victims were white.

In its comments on marijuana, the panel said that it should be legalized "in an effort to restore the respect of youth for our laws."

"Through our harsh criminal statutes on marijuana use and in light of evidence that alcohol abuse accounts for far more destruction than any known psychoactive substance today, we have caused large numbers of our youth to lose respect for our laws generally," the panel said.

"We have also criminalized untold numbers of young people. The scientific data do not support harsh treatment," it said.

"Marijuana has relatively mild effects on the user, and there is no evidence that it leads to the use of more dangerous drugs or that it causes aggressive behavior," the report said.

"Quite to the contrary, it makes many users more relaxed. On the other hand, hallucinogens such as LSD have often caused extreme reactions and even psychosis."

The full 13-member commission did not endorse the recommendation for relaxing legal bans on marijuana. The commission earlier called for further medical study to determine possible harmful effects of marijuana before taking any substantive legal action.

As a means to solving the problems of blacks and the hard-core unemployed, the panel said that unless "creative new actions" are taken, "it is logical to expect the establishment of the defensive city or the modern counterpart of the fortified medieval city."

Bluff and Rector Monday night in an attempt to pick up last minute support for their campaigns.

The candidates made the traditional poverty and hard work pitch for the working man's support at a Labor Day celebration in Pine Bluff. The rally was sponsored by the Jefferson County Trade and Labor Council.

Catering to a union position, Faubus said he opposed repeal of railroad full crew laws and he said he thinks labor can defeat an initiated full crew repealer which will be on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Bumpers said that today's election presents "the first time in many years and perhaps the last time for many years to come that we have a beautiful chance to win in November."

He said he is the best candidate to pull the Democratic party together and he noted that it took 220,000 crossover votes to elect Rockefeller to his first term in 1966.

Carruth and other American party people in the crowd wore the hard hats of construction workers. Carruth said the hard hat would be the symbol of the American party campaign because it is the symbol of the working people.

At Pine Bluff and Rector, perhaps because Bumpers was there, Faubus avoided the personal criticism of Bumpers which has characterized some of his television appearances.

At the Rector rally, Faubus spent much of his time pointing to the accomplishments of his 12 years in office.

"I have done it before and I can do it again," the former governor said.

Both candidates also had 30-minute television programs on Monday night.

Bumpers spent most of his closing telecast criticizing the manner in which Faubus has conducted his campaign. He denied, point-by-point, some of the accusations the former governor had made about him and he said he intended to stick by his intent to conduct a clean campaign.

He renewed some of his campaign promises, such as removing the sales tax on prescription drugs and penal reform.

Faubus employed a Little Rock television station to video tape his speech at Rector to be used as his final TV appearance.

There was a time when, after polishing off a particularly tedious editorial, we could lean back in the chair and crack our knuckles contentedly. But never again.

According to Tony Ullsworth, a young researcher at England's Leeds University, the cracking sound is caused by carbon dioxide gas escaping from fluid around the finger joints and "popping" under the strain. Speed Blamed for Deaths on Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
State Police Director Col. Ralph Scott said early today that excessive speed and improper passing were the leading causes of the accidents that led to the eight deaths on Arkansas highways over the 78-hour Labor Day weekend.

The holiday toll brought to 181 the number of persons killed in the "101 Days of Danger" between Memorial Day and Labor Day. The total was 19 higher than the 1969 figure. Only three persons were killed during the Labor Day weekend last year.

The latest traffic victim was Clara Halk, 73, of Cherry Valley.

She was killed Monday night in a three-car crash near Wynne on U.S. 64.

Mrs. Halk was the only victim killed Monday.

Eunice Gillispie, 30, of Olive Branch, Miss., was killed early Sunday when the car in which she was riding hit a bridge abutment on Interstate 40 near Hazen.

Barbara Hill, 3, of Briceys (Lee County) was killed Sunday when struck by a car in front of her home on U.S. 79. State Police said the child was attempting to cross the highway when she was hit by a car driven by Waefer P. Hawell, 44, of Forrest City.

James R. Hill, 21, of Chicago died Saturday night when a car he was driving collided head-on with another car on Arkansas 135 near Paragould.

State Police said Isaac Hartley, 49, of Rison was killed Friday night in a one-car accident on U.S. 79 near Pine Bluff.

Gary D. Koger, 22, of Huntsville was killed early Saturday when a sports car in which he was riding when out of control and overturned on U.S. 68 near Huntsville.

Two other persons were killed Saturday.

Gloria W. Hefner, 19, of Northeast Hickory, N.C., was killed in a two-car crash on Interstate 40 near Lonoke and Paul Sturgis, 34, of Monticello was killed in a one-car accident on Arkansas 4 near Monticello.

U.S. Charges Cover Mask, Egypt Says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egypt's leaders say the U.S. assertion that Cairo has violated the Middle East cease-fire is "a mask to cover any Israeli action against Egypt."

The Middle East News Agency said the Egyptian Cabinet made the statement Monday after meeting in Cairo with President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram, meanwhile, said Israel's latest charge that Egypt has broken the cease-fire agreement by setting up missiles near the Suez Canal is a "trick" to indicate that Cairo violated the agreement first.

The newspaper told its readers: "An Israeli military offensive is near at hand."

Israel released its 11th complaint of Egyptian cease-fire violations Monday. The United States has confirmed the Israeli charges, and Tel Aviv is boycotting the Middle East peace talks in New York until Egyptian military strength in the canal zone is restored to what it was before Aug. 7, the day the truce went into effect.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Monday that the Israeli boycott of the negotiations has virtually ruined chances for a Middle East peace settlement. The agency charged that Israel is using allegations about Egyptian violations of the cease-fire agreement "to cover up its refusal" to continue the talks.

"Actually," Tass said, "Tel Aviv's decision is only a logical conclusion of the policy of procrastination by means of which Israel tries to prevent implementation of the Security Council's Nov. 22, 1967, resolution." The resolution, which forms the basis of the U.S.-sponsored talks by representatives of Israel, Egypt and Jordan, calls for an Israeli pullout from territories occupied in the 1967 war and for Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist within secure boundaries.

200 Enemy Troops Hit South Vietnam Dist. Camp and Kill 24 Men

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — More than 200 North Vietnamese commandos blasted their way into a South Vietnamese military district headquarters and a ranger camp south of Da Nang today and rampaged through the two installations, killing at least 34 government soldiers and wounding 42.

Sources in Da Nang said the government casualty toll was still incomplete and might rise later.

Twenty-six North Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed in the three-hour battle.

It was the worst setback for government forces in a single action since last June, when 48 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 84 wounded by North Vietnamese who overran a government artillery base north-east of the A Shau valley.

Striking a few hours before dawn under the cover of darkness and a heavy mortar barrage that pinned government defenders down, the North Vietnamese simultaneously attacked the Tra Bong district headquarters and a ranger frontier defense camp 3½ miles away.

North Vietnamese sappers broke into both the district headquarters and the camp and ran through them, hurling dynamite bombs and firing Chinese Communist-made AK47 assault

British Ponder Plane Hijacker's Release for 180 Passengers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Four Western governments delegated the International Red Cross today to negotiate with the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine for the release of the 180 passengers still held captive from two of four planes involved in Sunday's hijacking plots.

Reporting the agreement, British officials said Israel opted not to join the United States, Switzerland, West Germany and Britain in working through the Red Cross. Citizens from all five nations were reported aboard the two planes in Jordan.

As the move was disclosed in London, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the British foreign secretary, summoned envoys of six Arab countries for discussions on the hijacking crisis.

The four-nation move was prompted by an ultimatum from the Arab League.

Urban Blacks' Crime Rate Is Higher

By JANET STAIHAR
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A government study says the rate of violent crimes by urban blacks is higher than for whites, and the majority of those offenses involve Negroes attacking Negroes.

The report, originally prepared by a three-man staff for the now-defunct National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, also recommended the legalization of marijuana for persons over age 18.

"There is no reliable scientific evidence of harmful effects," nor is there evidence of marijuana's being a stepping-stone to hard narcotics," said the report.

The voluminous study was written by Donald J. Mulvihill, a Washington attorney, Melvin M. Tumin, a sociology professor at Princeton University, and Lynn A. Curtis, a doctoral candidate in urban sociology at the University of Pennsylvania.

The report had been intended for the now-expired commission which was headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, but a lack of funds delayed publication until now.

The report, to be released

U.S. to Take Troops Out of Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S. military strength in Thailand will be reduced by 9,800 men within a year, a joint Thai-U.S. announcement said today.

The announcement said the cutbacks, which will bring total U.S. troop withdrawals in Thailand to 15,800 men since September 1969, were the result of talks held between the U.S. mission and the Thai Foreign Ministry.

The rate of withdrawal would be "consistent with operational requirements related to the Vietnam conflict and the security of this area," the announcement said.

The withdrawals, termed "redeployment" in the announcement, would begin "in the near future," and end July 1 next year.

IMF Declares U.S. Needs Stability

By BROOKS JACKSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — A faltering, inflation-ridden U.S. economy was a sore spot for world business through the early part of the year and will continue to be unless efforts to restore domestic stability take hold, says the International Monetary Fund.

The 116-nation fund released its report Monday, covering the fiscal year that ended April 30. The IMF's 215-page report said the world's economy was mixed during the period, marked both by severe inflationary pressures and by improving balances of payments and a strengthened international monetary system.

"Crucial to any assessment of the world economic outlook is the United States," the report said. "At this juncture the domestic stabilization plan developed by the authorities early in 1969 is clearly behind schedule in slowing the pace of price and cost increases and, at the same time, it has had a more severe impact on the real economy than was expected or hoped for."

"The importance of arresting the U.S. inflationary spiral and restoring price and cost stability can hardly be exaggerated," the report added. "At stake are the checking of the inflationary trend on a world-wide basis, the long-run stability and efficiency of the U.S. economy, the much-needed strengthening of the U.S. balance of payments ... and the sound functioning of the international monetary system."

The report said the volume of world production went up 5½ per cent in 1969, an increase diminished by the slower U.S. growth rate of less than 3 per cent. Excluding the United States, real growth was 7 per cent for both developed and undeveloped countries.

"It is especially noteworthy that the rate of increase ... of the less developed countries from 1968 to 1969 matched that of the developed countries on a per capita basis, in contrast to the considerable lag for the 1960's as a whole," the report said.

568 Killed by Labor Day Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic accidents across the nation claimed 568 lives during the three-day Labor Day weekend.

The National Safety Council had estimated that 570 to 670 might die in traffic during the period that began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight, local time, Monday.

The record number of traffic deaths for any Labor Day weekend was in 1968 when the toll hit 688. The count for the same holiday period last year was 600.

State Democrats to Decide on Faubus or Bumpers in Vote Today

Voters in 8 States to Polls Tues.

By JANET STAIHAR
Associated Press Writer

Voters in eight states go to the polls today to nominate party candidates for November elections with a key race being waged in Florida where squabbling Republicans hope to capture a Democratic Senate seat.

In Vermont, the Democrats have their sights set on a Republican-held Senate seat.

Seven of the states hold gubernatorial primaries—Arizona, Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Florida, Vermont, Arkansas and Colorado. Georgia follows with its gubernatorial primary on Wednesday.

Nominations for the House are up in all eight states and five are choosing Senate candidates.

Considerable attention is centered on the Florida contest between G. Harrold Carswell, the spurned Supreme Court nominee, and Rep. William C. Cramer, who is rated a slight edge. Cramer says President Nixon asked him to run for the Senate seat being vacated by retiring Democrat, Sen. Spessard L. Holland.

The GOP victor will square off against the winner of today's four-man primary race for the Democratic billing.

Former Gov. Farris Bryant, considered the front-runner, is closely challenged by Fred Schuit, speaker of the Florida House.

Florida also offers a hotly contested battle for governor with Republican Claude Kirk seeking renomination against millionaire chain drug store operator Jack Eckerd.

The Democrats have a tight four-way fight for their nomination for governor and it appears headed for a Sept. 29 runoff.

In Vermont, former Gov. Philip H. Hoff is expected to win the Democratic primary over State Sen. Flore L. Bove and former U.S. Rep. William H. Meyer in the bid for a U.S. Senate seat held by unopposed Republican Sen. Winston L. Prouty.

Vermont's Gov. Deane C. Davis is favored to win Republican nomination over Lt. Gov. Thomas L. Hayes, a liberal running as a peace candidate.

Democrats will choose between former Lt. Gov. John J. Daley and State Sen. Leo O'Brien Jr. in New Hampshire, Republican VOTERS IN 8

Winner to Oppose WR in November

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, claiming that he had been threatened with death if he wins, and political newcomer Dale Bumpers tested their strength among Arkansas voters today in a runoff election to choose a Democratic nominee for governor.

Faubus, in an election - eve news conference, said a "left wing group" that he refused to identify had threatened to assassinate him "within 30 days" if he wins the nomination. He said he would "alert" police about the threat, but not ask for protection.

"I want the people to vote for me," he said. "I'll take my chances with anything that comes afterward."

Faubus, 60, has come out of political retirement in an attempt to regain the office he held for a record six terms from 1955 to 1967. He led an eight-man race for the Democratic nomination Aug. 25, but his 36 per cent of the vote in the preferential primary fell short of the majority required to avoid the runoff.

Bumpers, 45, emerged from political obscurity to finish a surprising second in the primary and capture the runoff position opposite Faubus. A lawyer from the small Western Arkansas town of Charleston, population 1,350, Bumpers is making his first statewide political race.

The winner will face Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in the November general election. Walter Carruth, a Lexa farmer, also is to be on the November ballot as the American party candidate.

The Weather Bureau predicted fair and warm weather for today with a chance of afternoon and evening thundershowers.

State Auditor Jimmie "Red" Jones predicted that 360,000 of the state's 815,000 registered voters would turn out to cast ballots in the 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. voting time.

President Ky Reconsidering Trip to U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky is reconsidering his scheduled trip to the United States next month, a government spokesman said today.

Ky has accepted an invitation to attend an Oct. 3 rally in Washington by supporters of U.S. policy in Vietnam. A government spokesman said Ky was reconsidering the trip but had made no decision yet on whether it should be canceled.

A spokesman for Ky confirmed the announcement and said he expected a final decision soon. He said "new facts" had been brought to Ky's attention by the South Vietnamese ambassador to Washington, Du Diem, and by Dang Duc Khoi, a top Ky aide now in Washington.

Ky's spokesman would not go into detail. It was reported, however, that Khoi and possibly others had been advising Ky against the trip, fearing it could touch off protests by anti-war groups and damage relations between Washington and Saigon.

The U.S. mission said there had been no contact between officials and Ky about the trip and that he had not begun any formal preparation for it.
